

Possible scenario for expected population drop in light of present conditions and Scripture
 (Where a full-fledged spiritual revival is difficult to see in light of the apostate condition of the world.)

As the luciferian's intentional death rate climbs, the population of course begins to decrease gradually until somewhat of a state of equilibrium is surpassed and the rate then drops dramatically from that point. However:

We use the Japan nuclear incident as our greatest example to show how damage that has already been done can have results that are massively yet ahead of us. If (and more likely "when") the economy collapses, famines and crime factors will have to also be added into the fatality numbers, where riots and starvation will take substantial tolls as well, not to mention the riot control methods themselves that will certainly take many lives in potential martial law military oppressions, camps etc.

We know that the Bible tells us that this is "a day of great darkness", with famine, plagues, earthquakes, all contributing to the chaos and death that is yet to come, so an actual prediction of which will be the greatest causes of all these coming deaths is understandably unknown of course, but there are many contributing factors that are so numerous, that mankind is helpless to stop them all now, even if attempted by the bulk of the wicked elite themselves. There is only one "solution" and that is repentance. Will the nation and the world heed the call to drop to their knees in remorse, atoning for their disobedience and lack of purity?

Some of us find that it is more realistic to understand that this wrath must come, to prepare the earth for the possession of the saints. (see Daniel 7:18)

Somewhere in here we should see:

"And except that YHWH had shortened those days, no flesh should be saved: but for the elect's sake, whom he hath chosen, he hath shortened the days." (Mark 13:20)

When we say "estimated firm believers" in the chart above, we are talking about those who are truly obedient and meet the qualifications of Scripture for "sealing", such as "those that sigh and cry for the abominations done in the midst thereof", etc, where the lukewarm do not care very much about what is happening to the purity and image of the Father's kingdom, as they are without faith and hopelessly fearful, only caring about themselves and their immediate needs.

This chart itself is not claimed to be outright prophecy, but one example of several possible scenarios based on our world's present circumstances. None can see a detailed future, but can "learn the parable of the fig tree" (Mark 13:28), and through obedience, gain an edge via Father's Spirit.
