

Solutions to God's Wrath (?)

There are those around the nation that are claiming that this is a spiritual war. And even though I would somewhat agree with them, that is where our similarities end, as they don't go far enough in explaining what is really taking place in this war.

This is not so much a spiritual war that makes one merely envision this global chaos as if it is just an everyday struggle between God and the devil (which is what many would have you believe). It is much more than that, and in fact, it is not even how this picture is truly playing out.

This is a spiritual war alright, but it's a war between YHWH the true living God, and a joint 'confederacy' of mankind (Isaiah 8:12,13) who are now in absolute total rebellion against Him, and the Father has therefore begun His judgment process in punishing us for these sinful ways, the worst sin of which is idolatry, in rebelling against His rule over us under the world's combining "democracies" in a new world-wide, man-centered, humanist religion we might call "We the People-ism".

Therefore, this is not so much a simple "spiritual war" where rival deities are somehow struggling for power and we are just distant innocent bystanders, as that would imply that we have little to do with this, and thereby little to do with its outcome for our lives and our families, when in reality, it is quite the opposite:

We are the focus of the Father's anger right now, where the only part of this that can be considered a "spiritual war" (thus making the others truthful that this is not at least something political here on earth or a socio-economic miscalculation of man, etc.) is that yes, the war is spiritual, but its between YHWH and mankind. It is not a far off war between the Father and the devil. Satan (the adversary) is merely the instigation mechanism that triggered us and got us into this rebellious mess. Eve tried blaming satan for her sin in the garden... Did it work? We then must understand that the spiritual war is literally centered around our own willful rebellion to a Holy God and against the Law He gave to us as His creation.

Many would still have you believe that mere "solutions" (systems to bring peace, designed by man) will save us if implemented properly. But this, in and of itself is the biggest part of the problem, and not a “solution” by any stretch of man’s imagination.

What is truly taking place, is that YHWH is finally at the end of His patience with mankind, and especially because of such arrogance in the first place, to (in any way) think that man can more wisely write his own “solutions for peace”. Is this not outright defiance against the Father’s system of peace? YHWH is therefore about to send His greatest wrath ever, upon all of those who are not willing that He should rule over them, and He is about to begin with “His sanctuary”, or His hypocritical, sinful church (see Ezekiel 9:4-6 & 1st Peter 4:17) and then “slay” the rest of those who “would not that I should reign over them” (see Luke 19:27)

Therefore:

How do you stop a wrath of God with man’s “solutions”?

Consider when you were a child and you were being reprimanded by your father. If you talked back, you got it worse, Amen? Well, that’s what’s happening here in America.

Instead of just saying, “Yes sir, I am sorry, I won’t do it again”, to our heavenly Father, we are trying everything “we” can think of (except repentance), and... doing so only to find ways to continue to ignore His rules and “get out of” our coming punishment, thus making Him angrier instead of properly persuading Him to reconsider. And talk about angry? Boy! Is He getting angry!

So again...

How do you stop a wrath of God with man’s “solutions”?

You don’t.

Its like trying to put out an ominous forest fire by dumping gas on it.
